

U.S. ARMY CULTURAL RESOURCES MANAGEMENT TRAINING

INTERSERVICE ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATION REVIEW BOARD TRAINING OPPORTUNITIES

Training in cultural resources management and associated areas is available through courses approved by the Department of Defense Interservice Environmental Education Review Board (ISEERB). These include courses offered directly by ISEERB or other federal agencies, such as the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and the Advisory Council on Historic Preservation.

ISEERB offerings include:

- “Introduction to Natural and Cultural Resources”;
- “Introduction to Cultural Resources Management, Laws, and Regulations”;
- “Historic Preservation Law and Section 106 Compliance”;
- “Native American Traditions and Cultures”; and
- “National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) Application.”

ADVISORY COUNCIL ON HISTORIC PRESERVATION TRAINING

The Advisory Council on Historic Preservation offers “Section 106 Training: Introduction to Federal Projects and Historic Preservation Law.” This three-day introductory course provides information about federal compliance with Section 106 of the National Historic Preservation Act.

U.S. ARMY CORPS OF ENGINEERS PROSPECT COURSES

“Cultural Resources: Identification, Analysis, and Evaluation” is a proponent-sponsored engineer corps training (PROSPECT) course that provides an overview of cultural resources management issues and compliance requirements.

The Corps also offers courses in historic building preservation. For example, “Historic Structures: Maintenance and Repair” provides an awareness of the unique characteristics, legal requirements, procedures, technical knowledge and skills necessary to maintain and repair historic buildings.
